

I am requesting the laws not be changed concerning the telemarketing calls. I appreciate the fact my family can sit through our dinner without being interrupted by someone calling trying to sell something. It is great to be able to watch a family program without the phone ringing several times only to answer and again it's someone that can barely speak English trying to sell you something. If the laws are changed to allow telemarketers, even those companies from whom I may be a customer, to have access to calling at every opportunity they can, I will seriously consider discussing removing the phone from our home. I and my entire family "do not" wish to be bothered by telemarketers. We do not purchase items over the phone unless we do the calling a company. We want the choice to be our choice to consider purchasing over the phone by our placing the call to a company not any company calling us. Thank you!
